The Problem: Pain is a silent epidemic in the United States
- Over 60 million Americans live with chronic pain caused by disease, disorder or accident
- An additional 25 million people suffer acute pain resulting from surgery or accident
- Four out of every ten chronic pain patients are currently not seeing a physician for pain relief, as they think there is nothing more their doctor can do, or they think they can handle it themselves
- The most common types of pain include arthritis, lower back, bone & joint pain, muscle pain and Fibromyalgia
- One in four Americans experiences joint pain daily

The Solution: WellnessPro® Bio Electrotherapy.
The last decade has seen a major shift in the way Americans view medicine. Despite the benefits of pharmacological treatments, and surgical procedures, associated side effects and addictions have demonstrated to the medical community a need for additional approaches to patient care.
Today a huge number of patients are turning to complementary therapies like Chinese medicine, acupuncture, chiropractics, nutritional superfoods, targeted physical therapy, yoga and psychology, to name a few.

Here in the United States more and more people are discovering alternatives to drug treatments and have found a very powerful and effective modality that works - Electromedicine!

The Bio Electrotherapy system known as the WellnessPro® is a complementary treatment modality that has been FDA cleared to market and is a safe and effective device for pain management.

Having been used in many other countries for decades, U.S. practitioners are now finding that there are many inherent advantages to Bio frequency technology.
The Issues:

Four out of ten people suffering moderate to severe pain were unable to find adequate pain relief. Eighty-three million people report that pain frequently affects their participation in daily activities. Twenty eight percent feel that there was no solution for their pain.

“Almost all chronic pain sufferers have used OTC [Over The Counter] medications to relieve pain, and over one half have used Rx NSAIDs [Prescription Non-Steroidal Anti-Inflammatory Drugs].”

$61.2 billion is spent per year in pain-related lost productive time in the US work force.

“Chronic pain sufferers are having difficulty in finding doctors who can effectively treat their pain, and half have changed doctors at least three times since the pain began.”

“Unbalanced and misleading media coverage on the abuse of opioid analgesics not only perpetuates misconceptions about pain management; it compromises the access to adequate pain relief sought by over 80 million Americans living with pain.”

A New Breakthrough in Pain Management is HERE!

Non-invasive, Non-toxic, Safe and effective!

An increasing number of clinics, hospitals and private practices, including practitioners in the allopathic and natural healing areas of medicine across the country, are discovering a device that is unlocking endless possibilities. The WellnessPro® has shown to be by far the most effective Bio frequency device on the market and #1 choice for professionals around the world for the relief of pain, even in the most difficult cases.

What is Electromedicine?

Electromedicine is a discipline within the field of medicine that deals with the use of electricity and frequencies to aid in the treatment of chronic or acute pain conditions associated with a variety of physical ailments.

Here’s what people are saying about the WellnessPro® unit!

”…No More Pain Since Treatment!”

I had a patient come to me complaining of pain in the ball of her right foot for a year. She did not remember at first when the pain started or how. She had seen several doctors, a physical therapist and a chiropractor, used several kinds of rubs and nothing was helping. No diagnosis was made except “foot pain of undetermined etiology”.

The doctor I work with referred her to me for a treatment. I treated her for 3 days. That was 3 months ago, and she has not had pain since! She is promoting the WellnessPro® to all her fellow workers and friends.

Nancy R.

”…I Feel Alive Again!”

I have been plagued with back problems most of my adult life. I have gone through back surgery three times. Each time it has given me temporary relief; several years after the second surgery the pain returned. To my wife’s dismay, our social activities began to fade away. I could not comfortably walk any distance, sit, or stand for an extended period of time.

My niece introduced me to this unit. She has used the WellnessPro® and was enthusiastic about the excellent results she has had using one. She begged me to try it before taking a chance on surgery again. The device was delivered to my home and I began using it immediately. No rash promises were made at the time the Electromedical device was left with me. In just a few days I began to feel improvement. In less than one week, the pain in my back and legs was gone. I feel a huge weight has been lifted from my mind and my body. Mentally and physically I feel alive again. I no longer dread going to bed, only to toss and turn in pain all night.

I cannot say enough about how much this little device has helped. I was skeptical at first but now I am a true believer. Life is worth living now that I have been introduced to the WellnessPro® 2010 Electrotherapy Unit.

G. Mc Larney

”The WellnessPro® has been a God-send for me. I have Fibromyalgia, and most things I’ve tried have failed. A friend suggested this unit to me; I didn’t know what to think. I told her I’ll give it a try. At first I felt a little improvement, the next day we tried a different frequency and the pain in my legs was gone within 10 minutes!! I am amazed to say the least!!! I might still have fatigue, and my legs are sometimes stiff, but there is NO pain, as long as I use the machine once long a week. More people should know about this”!

Jan K.

”…It’s a Miracle Instrument!”

I have been seeing Doctors for years and they were unable to help me in any way with my type of arthritis which was in my knees, shoulders, elbows, neck and various other places. I had been given a series of pain shots every five hours and been told I had a bad kidney infection. When one of my doctors recommended I look into getting a WellnessPro®, I called the company, sent in my prescription and picked up my MACHINE from my Doctor.

All I can say is that I am at a loss of words. My pain stopped, the swelling is gone. Years of suffering and in less then 3 days of using this unit, I’m Pain Free! I just can’t figure out how this works! If you believe in miracles, believe in the WellnessPro®! It’s a miracle instrument.

How Does it Work?

The human body is like a machine, it wears out in direct proportion to its abuse. A well balanced body reflects a strong immune system. Longevity is the result of natural care and maintenance of the body.

In basic terms, electricity is found naturally in all of us. Certain electrical impulses in our bodies help facilitate bodily functions including actions needed for healing. By mimicking the electrical impulses that occur in us, we can help facilitate a specific effect.

Electromedicine is able to trigger these impulses by varying the frequency, wave length, intensity, and location of the electricity applied to the patient. Understanding how these elements interplay to create a desired effect is the basis for the science.

A Brief History of Electromedicine

Electromedicine, or the use of electricity to treat physical ailments, is considered one of the oldest and most documented sciences known. Medical professionals of ancient Greece learned that the electrical impulses emitted from electric eels in clinical foot baths relieved pain and produced a favorable influence on the blood circulation. Doctors Largus and Dioscorides (cc 46 AD) documented substantial therapeutic results with electrical currents in the management of pain from a variety of ailments.

In the 1700s, European physicians used controlled electrical currents from electrostatic generators almost exclusively for numerous medical problems involving pain and circulatory dysfunction. During that period, Benjamin Franklin also documented pain relief by using electrical currents for “frozen shoulder.”

Today electromedicine is recognized as a very safe, efficacious and certainly one of the most cost effective treatments of choice in 21st century that has ZERO side effects.
46AD (Ancient Rome) - Scribonius Largos describes the use of torpedo fish (aquatic animals capable of electrical discharge) for medical applications. “The live black torpedo when applied to the painful area relieves some chronic and intolerable protracted headaches... carries off pain of arthritis... and eases other chronic pains of the body.”

1600 (England) - William Gilbert, physician to Queen Elizabeth, published De Magnete, in which he describes the use of electricity in medicine. Gilbert re-discovers that when certain materials are rubbed, they will attract light objects - originally known to be true of Amber by the ancient Greeks. He coins the name ‘electricity’ from the Greek ‘electron’ for amber.

1743 (Germany) - Krueger, a Professor of Medicine, suggests in lectures that electricity might be used in the treatment of paralysis.

1745 (Germany) - Kratzenstein publishes a book on electrotherapy. He details a method of treatment which consists of seating the patient on a wooden stool, electrifying him by means of a large revolving frictional glass globe and then drawing sparks from him through the affected body parts.

1780 (Italy) - Galvani, Professor of Anatomy at the University of Bologna, first observes the twitching of muscles under the influence of electricity (prepared from the leg of a frog). Galvani then proves that atmospheric electricity, as manifested in lightning, will produce the same effects on muscular movement.

1800 (Italy) - Carlo Matteucci shows that injured tissue generates electric current.

1840 (England) - England’s first electrical therapy department is established at Guy’s Hospital, under Dr. Golding Bird. The electrical discovery of Galvano leads to the use of mechanically pulsed Galvanic currents.

1860 (England) - The start of Faradic Stimulation. Bristow develops the Bristow Coil, using Faraday’s principle of electro-magnetically controlling the voltage of electricity.

1891 (USA) - Nikola Tesla presents a paper in ‘Electrical Engineer’, about the medical application of high frequency currents. He notes that when the body is transverse by alternating currents above a certain frequency, heat is perceived.

1891 (France) - D’Arsonval, in a communication to the Société de Biologie, shows that a high frequency current (greater than 10,000Hz) can be passed through the body without producing any sensation other than heat.

1900 (Worldwide) - The electrical discoveries of Galvano, Faraday and Tesla were therapeutically adopted by activating the electrical phenomena of the human body with the use of Galvanic, Sinusoidal and Faradic currents. These become the standard methods of applying Electrical Body Stimulation. There becomes are preference to use the more comfortable and less hazardous Faraday method.

1908 (Germany) - Von Berndt, Von Priers and Von Zeyneck publish a paper on the treatment of the pain of joint disease by high frequency currents.
1929 (Russia) - Lakhovsky publishes his book “The Secret of Life”. Conducts studies and concludes that cells possess resistance, capacitance, inductance and function like tuned resonant circuits, capable of resonating to a resonant frequency when exposed to a range of frequencies.

1930’s (Germany) - Interferential currents are developed. Two alternating, medium frequency sinewave current paths are crossed to give pulsed low frequency modes of electrical stimulation. Interferential currents are much more comfortable than anything else available at the time.

1938 (USA) - Clinics are opened in San Diego, Los Angeles and Pasadena, California. Phenomenal results are reported. A Special Medical Research Committee is organized at the University of Southern California in Los Angeles to oversee and manage Dr. Rife’s “energy medicine” research and clinical success. The newspaper articles are cautious but optimistic.

1950’s - 1990’s (Russia) - ‘Russian Stimulation’ is developed - 4,000Hz tone bursts, 50% ON, 50% OFF, alternating currents with 50 tone bursts per second. This is used by athletes for building muscle and increasing power.

1970’s (USA) - Transcutaneous Electrical Nerve Stimulation (TENS) is acknowledged as a viable method of pain management by America’s Food and Drug Administration (FDA). Many American companies begin production of TENS devices. The heart pacemaker is developed.

1970’s (England & Canada) - Melzak and Wall propose the ‘Pain Control Gate’ theory, by which strong afferent nerve stimulation by chemical, mechanical or electrical means overrides painful sensations at hypothetical pain control ‘gates’ in the spinal cord.

1970’s & 80’s (Sweden) - Clinical researchers Ericsson and Sjolund publish a series of articles in various scientific and medical journals. They compare constant, high frequency “TENS to bursts of high frequency TENS (termed acupuncture-like TENS), finding that the latter offers better pain relief and does in fact instigate a release of endorphins into the bloodstream.

1981 (USA) - Becker publishes “The Body Electric”. Challenges the established mechanistic understanding of the body. Finds clues to the healing process in the theory that electricity is vital to life.

1991 (Germany) - Nobel Prize recipients Erwin Neher and Bert Sakmann developed a technique that detects electrical currents to the trillionth of an Ampere in the membranes of the cell, establishing the existence of ion channels.

2000 - USA
John McDonald of Washington University uses intensive applications of Electrical Muscle Stimulation (EMS) to exercise the muscles of a quadriplegic of 8 years. The patient defies medical science by regaining limited sensation and movement in his body. The regimen includes 2 hours of EMS and hydrotherapy weekly.

2007 July - USA
After 4 years of development, Electromedical Technologies receives FDA clearance for the WellnessPro® 2010. This NEW generation Bio electrotherapy device combines decades of research from the ORIGINAL work of past Electromedical pioneers with new breakthrough technologies in this field. It is also the only unit of its kind on the market to go through the rigorous laboratory tests for safety accuracy and precision, receiving ISO, CE, ETL, UL and IEC marks. The NEW WellnessPro® Breakthrough “Deep Pulse®” Technology, the largest frequency range and unique features of this device show astonishing results with patient’s Pain control issues, putting this device light years ahead of any other frequency unit on the market. The Future of Bio Electro medicine begins...
What is a WellnessPro® device?

The WellnessPro® is the easiest to use most advanced device, designed to provide electrical stimulation, for the relief of chronic, intractable pain and as an adjunctive treatment of post-surgical or post-traumatic acute pain, in a single compact, lightweight user friendly package.

It is FDA cleared, laboratory tested and registered through IEC, UL, ETL, CE and ISO. It is a Class II medical device with the most flexibility of use and largest frequency range in its class on the market today. It is digitally controlled with a unique “Deep Pulse®” technology. Designed by world renowned scientists the WellnessPro® has been created for the precise treatment to control even the most difficult pain associated with various conditions as well as injury cases, including pain issues associated with muscle, and connective tissue problems.

How does this device work to reduce pain?

In order to adequately explain how the WellnessPro® works, it is appropriate to begin by considering certain fundamental aspects of living tissue.

The body is made up of a vast number of cells. In many ways these cells act like tiny batteries, storing and releasing energy, doing their work of taking in nutrients, releasing waste products, repairing and reproducing themselves, etc. Each cell, like any battery, has a measurable electrical charge, which must be maintained in order to function properly.

Energy flows constantly between all cells throughout the electrical circuitry of the body. When various forms of damage or trauma occur to living tissue, there is a disruption in the electrical capacity of the involved cells and after an initial surge, a measurable decrease in the production and flow of energy occurs through the electrical network of the involved tissues. This condition is generally accompanied by pain in the affected area and often results in the body’s inability to completely repair itself: Therefore, lengthy rest periods and inactivity are often prescribed in order to attain eventual restoration of normal function. The WellnessPro® treatments have been likened to putting a “jump start” on the dead battery of a car. (Also known as “The Gate Control Theory”).

I have a specific condition. Can these treatments help me with my pain?

Yes, Electromedical Technologies and our partner university research centers and clinics in Europe along with participating doctors and clinics in the US, have overseen treatments using the WellnessPro® with outstanding results in the reduction of pain in a wide range of acute and chronic conditions that cause minor to severe intractable pain.

What can I expect when I go for a treatment?

Normally a professional will administer the treatment by attaching either self adhesive or carbon rubber electrodes in a pattern that will be most effective or in a combination of both applied to specific areas of your body. An electrolyte gel may be applied depending on the attachments the practitioner will choose to administer in order to facilitate better conductivity of the equipment’s output. If you begin to feel any discomfort, such as a stinging, let the practitioner know so that they can adjust the equipment accordingly. Treatments vary in time but are generally between 30 min and up to one hour.
Prior to beginning treatment the practitioner will discuss your case with you and ask questions about your situation to determine if this device is appropriate for you and also to determine an appropriate starting point for treatment. Dress comfortably. You may need to remove some clothing to facilitate access to the areas of pain. During treatment you will experience a very relaxed state of mind. Contact your practitioner for more information.

When can I expect results from treatments?

Typical Patient responses vary from individual to individual and range from immediate and complete relief in one treatment to an initial increased discomfort then slow and steady recovery. In some cases it may take 3-10 treatments before some breakthrough occurs.
The effectiveness and sustainability of the treatments, not always only depends on your practitioner. It also largely depends on the patient and their commitment to supporting the healing process, which includes proper hydration, nutrition and physical exercise.

Are there side effects?

The most common side effect is the reduction and/or elimination of pain. Sometimes patients may experience atypical symptoms including, but not limited to: diarrhea, night sweats, headaches, nausea, flu-like symptoms etc. Make sure you consult your practitioner when you experience any atypical symptoms.

Is this a TENS device?

YES, The WellnessPro® has been FDA cleared as a TENS (Transcutaneous Electrical Nerve Stimulation) device in that it uses electrical stimulation to relieve pain; however, unlike other TENS devices on the market that have a very limited frequency range, the WellnessPro® has the largest frequency range coupled with a unique delivery system that helps stimulate the body to block pain signals. The WellnessPro® has demonstrated to be far superior to than any other comparable device on the market today by achieving longer term pain relief. The WellnessPro® allows more flexibility for users and practitioners. It is a well known fact that pain relief helps the body achieve a state of natural restoration and wellness.

If it’s so effective, why haven’t I ever heard of it before?

The technology has been available to the elite, practitioners, pro athletes and celebrities for over 60 years. NBA, NFL, WBA and Pro PGA athletes, currently use the WellnessPro Technology. It has been used for decades throughout world and is common practice in various hospitals and clinics in Europe today. Electrotherapy applications are currently used in NASA and the Russian Space programs. In the past few years Bio electrotherapy just now has become more available in the US. It has quickly started to open new possibilities and frontiers in the medical field for research and Wellness.

Can I buy the WellnessPro® for myself?

Yes. If you are not a licensed medical practitioner, and you wish to use the instrument for your own home use, a prescription note is required from your doctor. However, if you wish to become a WellnessPro® sales representative for Electromedical Technologies, and want to adhere to the strict demonstration guidelines while presenting to medical practitioners no prescription is necessary.

The Heart of Energy and Wellness

A Renaissance of Health and Self-Healing

What’s Wrong with Health Care in America?

The Journal of the American Medical Association reports that approximately 40% of the U.S. population, or 100 million people, suffer from one or more chronic diseases. And over 180,000 people are killed annually by medical care - a rate equal to about 400 jumbo jet crashes per year. That is 8 crashes per week! Research published in peer-reviewed journals show:

- The side effects of medication properly prescribed and administered was the fourth leading cause of death in America, according to an article in the Journal of the American Medical Association.
- Nearly 100,000 Americans die each year from medical errors; according to a recent study by the Institute of Medicine.
- Over 80,000 Americans die annually from infections that they acquire while being treated in a hospital.
- Nearly 50% of the surgical operations in the United States are unnecessary and expose patients to serious risk of injury and death.

The old model of medicine is failing and we have to move toward a preventive, natural health care system. One of the emerging fields within the new natural health care paradigm is called vibrational medicine, energy medicine, or energy wellness. Evidence-based energy wellness supports the innate self-regulatory and self-healing capacity of the human body.

Subtle Energies & The Energy of Wellness

The basic unit of life, the cell, exists only because it is held together by energy. The atoms and molecules that make up a cell also exist because their various parts are held together by a bond of energy. Essentially, everything in the universe as we understand it is energy, manifesting in light and sound. Perhaps, as Einstein believed, there is only a single energy, “a unified field,” but if so, it has countless faces. Numerous cultures describe a matrix of subtle energies that support, shape, and animate the physical body, called Chi in Chinese, Prana in India and Tibet, Nefesh in Hebrew, Ki in Japan; Sufis call it “Baraka”, Christians call it the Holy Spirit (“Know ye not that ye are the temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you”), and the ancient Greeks called it “pneuma”; Hahnemann, the father of homeopathy, referred to it as the “vital force,” and chiropractic calls it the “innate intelligence.” Your body is made up of “energy fields” that form the foundation of your health.

Modern medicine uses only “vitality” but has no concept of a circuit for this vitality. Ukrainian quantum physicists, on the other hand, have been studying Giga-energy. They report that human DNA vibrates at 52 to 78 Gigahertz (billions of cycles per second); animals at 47 Gigahertz; and plants at 42 Gigahertz. They believe that this subtle energy, at one-billionth of a watt per cmz, is the electromagnetic support system for “chi.” This chi correlates almost identically to what traditional Jewish sources refer to as the Nefesh level of soul within the body. In the Bible (Lev. 17:11) it is written that “the soul (Nefesh) of the flesh is in the blood. According to the Chinese classics, the chi is called the “commander of the blood.” As it is clear from Lev. 17:11, the Nefesh (chi) is the life force of the body.
According to the Aurevedic medical system of India, your body has seven major centers of both electromagnetic activity and vital energy (commonly known as chakras) that are powerhouses of energy. Studies have been conducted that show the electrical oscillations in the skin above the chakras are in the frequency of up to 1,600 cycles per second - as contrasted with 0 to 100 in the brain, 225 in the muscles, and 250 in the heart. (Study by Dr. Valerie Hunt, professor emeritus at UCLA, summarized in Richard Gerber’s book Vibrational Medicine.)

Each chakra influences the organs, muscles, ligaments, veins, and all other systems within its energy field. Chakras also influence the endocrine system and so are strongly involved with your moods, personality, and overall health.

According to the theory of Chinese acupuncture, your body also consists of an “energy transportation system” known as meridians. These meridians not only feed vital energies to their related organs, they also reflect any pathological disturbance in those organs, thus providing physicians with a convenient and highly accurate tool for diagnosis as well as therapy.

According to the book Energy Medicine, disturbances in meridian energies correlate with ill health. Because disrupted meridian energies often precede illness, meridian readings are sometimes used to predict health vulnerabilities and prevent disease. Some government employees in Japan, for instance, are routinely screened during their annual medical examinations by a machine that has twenty-eight electrodes attached to the meridian endpoints.

Only people with abnormal meridian readouts are required to go through further diagnostic testing!

Dr. Candace Pert, a research professor in the Department of Physiology and Biophysics at Georgetown University Medical Center in Washington, D.C., believes that the meridians may be the pathways that are followed by immune cells as they move up and down an anatomical highway.

According to the Jewish theory of healing, your body has 10 sefirot (spiritual energy centers). This energy enters the field of the body at the Crown (Keter) through the area of the fontanel, the “soft spot” on an infant’s skull. Jewish sages also believed that a field of energy called Surrounding Light (the Aura) envelopes the human body. This Light extends 88 inches from the physical body and works like an ozone layer. The ozone layer protects living creatures from ultraviolet radiation emitted from the sun. Surrounding Light works in a similar capacity, shielding us from negative forces in our environment. When we behave with intolerance toward others and with egocentric behavior, we literally punch holes in our Surrounding Light, creating openings for illness to enter into our bodies. Christians depict this Surrounding Light as the halo surrounding the head of saints and angels.

The body’s energy centers - meridians, chakras or sefirot (depending upon one’s belief system) - bring vital life energy to every organ in your body.

Keeping these energy fields balanced and removing blockages in the flow of this subtle energy plays a major role in determining your body’s health. Balance is the key concept within energy wellness, just as homeostasis is a key concept within biology. All systems move toward an energetic balance, a state of harmony with other energies. A primary benefit of the WellnessPro® instrument is Pain Relief, which helps to balance the energy fields in your body!

During the first few years of the 21st Century, we will witness a grassroots explosion across America, where people will begin taking responsibility for their wellness lifestyle with optimum, plant-based nutrition, antioxidant, botanical and nutrient supplementation, exercise, positive thinking, stress management, and demands for clean air, ecological sustainability (saving the rainforests, etc.), pure water, organic foods and a change toward a preventive natural health care system... while rejecting pharmaceutical-based medical solutions. People are fed up with the failure of modern medicine to solve chronic diseases, such as cancer:

- an estimated 1.2 million new cases of cancer this year;
- more than 560,000 lives lost to cancer last year, our second leading cause of death;
- more than $110 billion in total health and related costs;
- a lifetime risk for developing some form of cancer of 1 out of every 2 men in this country, and 1 out of 3 women.

The WellnessPro® instrument is for wellness. It does not have any side effects. It is not toxic nor invasive. It is FDA cleared for any form of pain relief: acute, chronic or post operative. The WellnessPro® instrument is in perfect harmony with the new self-care model of natural health.

If every day you make sure your energies are not blocked and are flowing freely, your body’s innate healing system will counter virtually anything. Your body’s wellness reflects the health, clarity, and flow in your energy field. Our advanced electrotherapy technology allows people to live pain free. By relieving the pain, your body is able to stabilize and maintain a natural healthy energy flow that helps to create a state of physical and mental wellness.
